The '84 Chief

Keokuk Senior High School
Keokuk, Iowa
Volume 81

Landmarks — the dictionary defines them as "marks for designating the boundaries of land ... conspicuous objects on land that mark a locality ... events or developments that mark turning points." That's why, as you look throughout this yearbook, you'll see pictures of familiar Keokuk landmarks, places that help you get your bearings, that help you put into context the events of this school year. As you see each one, think of all the landmarks in your own life this year.

Landmarks — KHS has them, whether it is observing Mr. Anderson's passing on to graduate school or seeing a toga-garbed Tani Young as she nears the end of her high school career or watching the senior wrestlers surround the Chief symbol which has been such a part of their lives. Landmarks may be studious seniors or Ray Williams receiving an award from Mr. Figge or helping out the Bloodmobile or watching Eric Shuman perform as the Chief. The landmarks are all about you if you will but take the time to notice them, savor them, and remember them.

Landmarks — that's what this year's '84 Chief takes a look at — moments and places in your life when something important, something unforgettable, something poignant, happened to you.

Dedication

Richard Jones

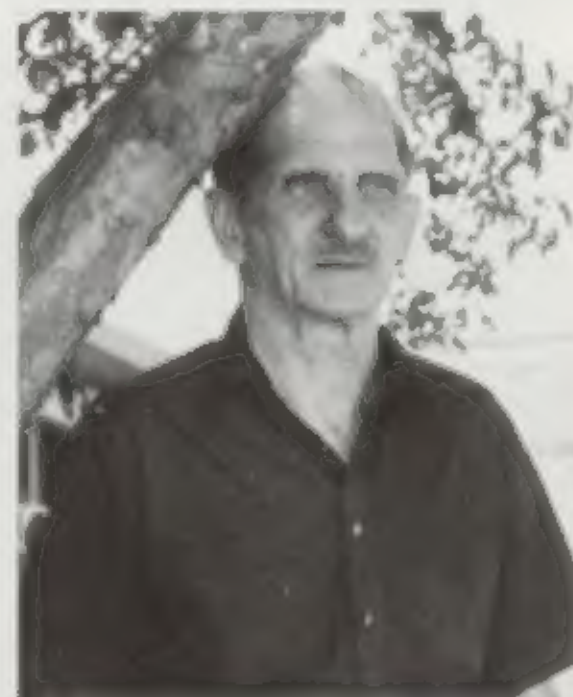

The '84 Chief dedicates this year's yearbook to two retiring members of the KHS staff.

Richard Jones retires this year after having been a member of the faculty for thirty-five years.

As he himself has observed, for the last few years he has been teaching driver education to the children of students he had when he first came to Keokuk.

Herb Stice also retires this year from the custodial department.

His face has been a familiar sight in the hallways of KHS. The last two years he has been the head custodian, doing a fine job of keeping the building and grounds in tiptop shape.

Herb Stice

The '84 Chief is a publication of the Keokuk Senior High School Comment staff.

graphy of Keokuk. A special thank you goes to Tani Young who worked hard to get us the necessary prints so that the yearbook could be completed on time. Special thanks are also given to Wes and Marilyn Pohorsky for the use of their prom pictures. Finally a word of appreciation to Melanie Laehn for her efforts in getting the yearbook done.

The 1984 Chiefettes demonstrated some real talent in certain areas of track and field. Karen Dougherty led the way by setting meet records at the Fairfield Relays in the 200 m dash and the 400 m dash. She set the school record in the 200 m dash and the conference record in the same event. Dougherty, Lori Walrath, Deanna Robbins, and Amy Boecker qualified for the Drake Relays in the 4x400 m relay. Julie McClain tied the high school jump record, and Billie Adams set a new school record in the shot put. Walrath, Robbins, McClain, and Pam Hufendick set a new school record in the shuttle hurdle relay.

Bottom At the Keokuk wrestling match, Mrs. Pohorsky is seen with the Little Feathers.

One of the landmark organizations at KHS is the Little Feathers, who had a very successful year. They attended the Superstar Drill Team Camp on the Iowa State University campus and brought home 72 blue ribbons, and Michele Prunty was selected as a Superstar Girl. The team held their own camp at the Ursa Re-reat and prepared for the football season.

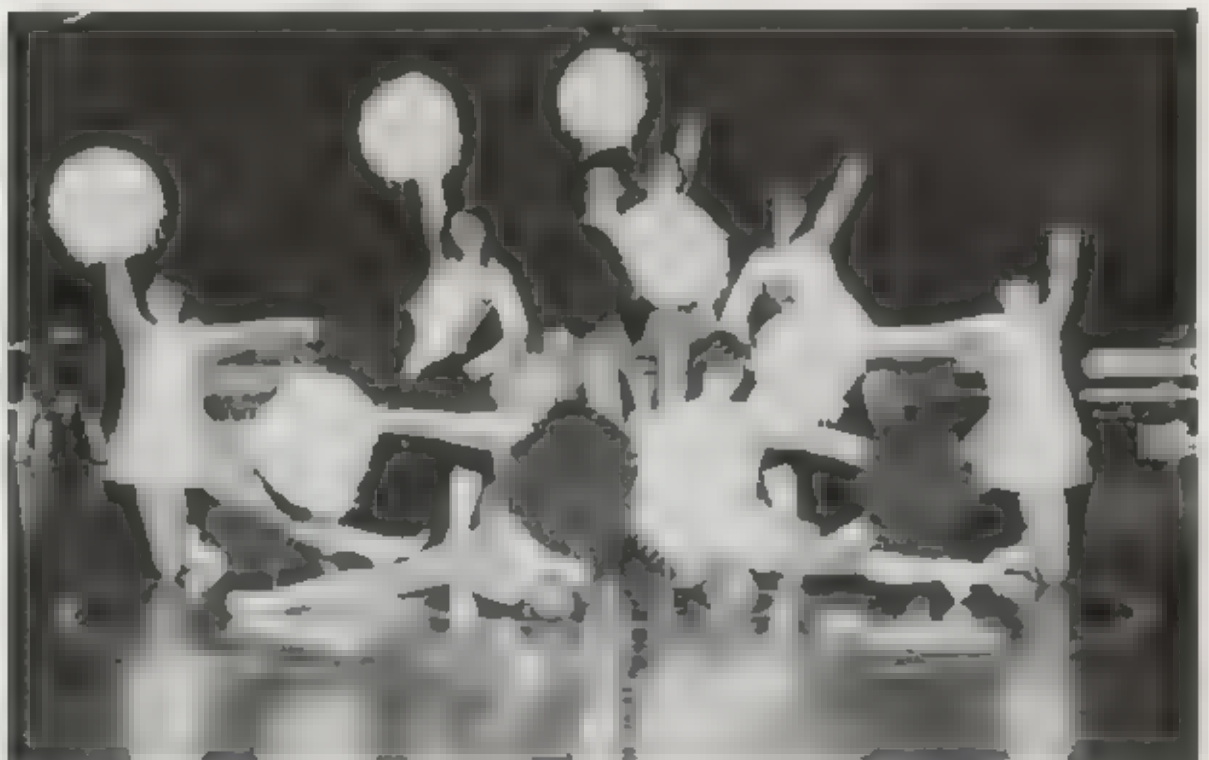

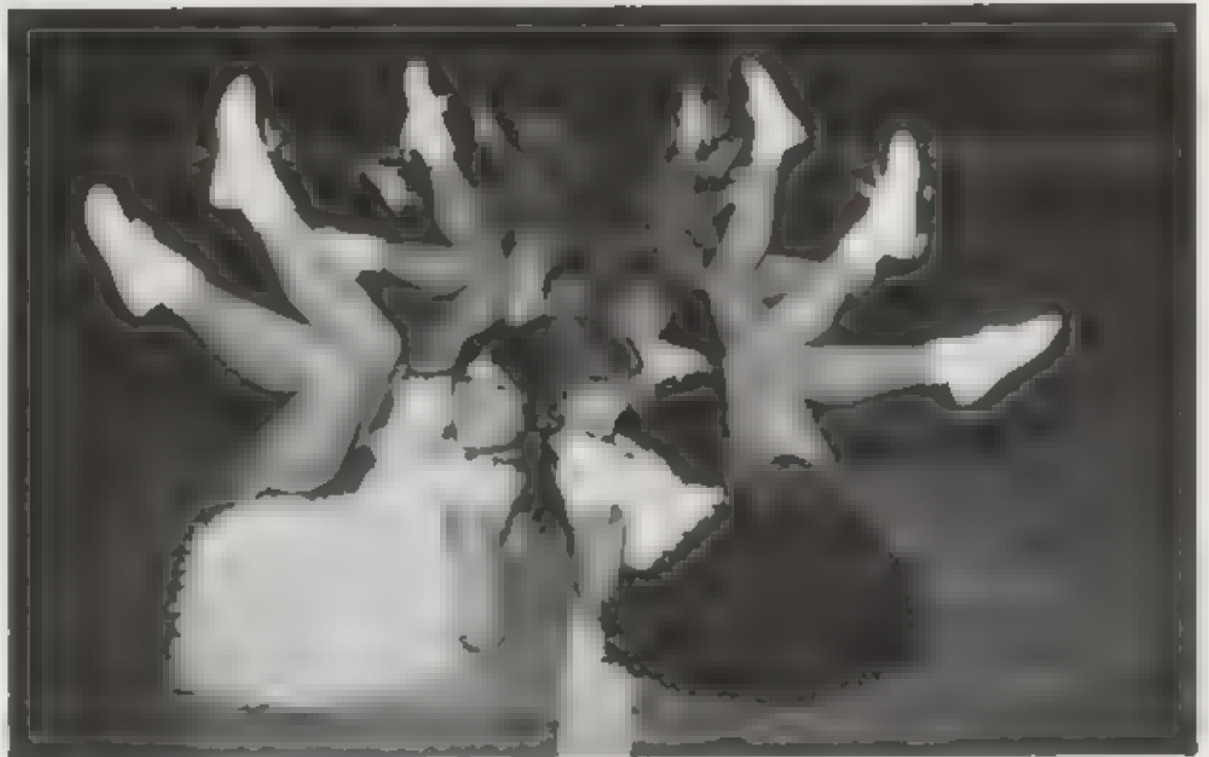

In addition to performing football, wrestling, and boys' and girls' basketball games, the Feathers joined the band for parades and entertained pep assemblies with comedy routines. The girls sponsored the Little Feathers Day, appeared at two fashion shows at the mall, and sponsored a Valentine Day Dance.

The highlight of the year was in December when the Feathers captured second place in the State at the Iowa State Drill Team Competition. Competing against the finest drill/dance groups in the state, the group finished second in the state, the highest a Keokuk group has ever finished. Carrie Smick and Michele Prunty competed for the title of Miss Drill Team with Michele being named as one of the top ten. Michele Prunty, Smick, and Aimee Trott were selected to represent Keokuk in the All-Iowa Drill Team.

As Mrs. Pohorsky sums it up: "A most successful and fun year and the best group of Little Feathers I have had in the fourteen years I've been associated with the group. The 8 seniors will be missed."

The annual fall production of the Keokuk Drama Club was Charley's Aunt, presented on November 11 and 12. Written by Brandon Thomas, the play was a light-hearted comedy centering on Charley's aunt, an aunt bearing a suspiciously strong resemblance to a man rather than a woman. Under the direction of Rick Anderson, the play displayed the talents of many Keokuk Senior High students, both on stage and behind the scenes.

During the summer, school activities are pretty well closed down, but one event is the annual summer musical. This landmark event for 1983 was the production of South Pacific, an effort that required the help of numerous people.

Faculty assistance was provided by Rick Anderson, director; Dan Proctor, music director; and Bob Buckert, set construction.

With the intense summer heat, it was a relief to let one's imagination take him away to the balmy South Seas and enjoy an excellent performance.

Nellie Forbush (Anne Vandersell) pays Luther Billis (Aaron Hequembourg) an off-hand compliment: "Oh! You do beautiful work, Luther. You've even done the pleats in my shorts."

The Rainbow Box

A landmark event for the local elementary schools is the annual Children's Theater. This year's production, performed during the week of May 7-11, was a play entitled The Rainbow Box by Brian Wav and directed by Karen Parker. The cast of four included Lisa Mann, Sue Shea, Tom Anderson, and Monty Hendricks. David Skow and Tracy Dye added their contribution as participation helpers.

Class Day Highlights
